ALVARADO BANKER IS SHOT; BANDITS GET $50,000

Deposed Woman Is Chosen Agent to Enforce Prohibition in California

WOMAN BANK CASHIER, WITH CUSTOMER, IS LOCKED UP IN VAULT

President May Is Shot, Seriously Hurt by Gangsters Who Sack Vault Then Flee in Auto No. 160,934

PURSUIT BY POSSE IS ELUDED

Armed with shotguns and revolvers, three masked bandits entered the Bank of Alameda County at Alvarado at noon today, shot and seriously wounded President August May, and escaped with cash estimated at $50,000.

The men ransacked the institution after dragging May into the vault and locking him up with Mrs. Anderson, an assistant cashier, and Ted Leddecker, an employe of the bank, in the vault.

When one of the men entered the bank with drawn revolver May sprang at him and knocked him down. The bandit recovered his weapon and shot May twice, once in the throat and once in the shoulder.

The robbers worked fast and had fled from the scene in a few minutes. A passerby heard the imprisoned bank officials knocking at the vault door and went to their rescue. Following shouted directions, he opened the vault and released them.

The wounded bank president was placed in an automobile and rushed to a hospital at Hayward, from which place he was taken to the Merritt hospital in this city by District Attorney Ezra Decoto, his brother-in-law.

There were apparently no outside eye witnesses to the perpetration of the crime—the president and his assistant being the only officials in the institution at the time. known, however, that May was first accosted by the marauders, and it is believed it was his objection to obeying their commands that he was shot down.

Roughly seizing Mrs Anderson, Seddecker and May, they threw them into the huge vault and closed and locked the door. Then, systematically working, they stuffed silver and bills into suit cases and walked quietly to their green racing car, which, with engine running, awaited at the curb.

MACHINE DRIVEN SLOWLY IN TOWN

Residents in Alvarado declare they saw the car, which was painted a bright green, both enter and leave the town, but due to its moderate pace they were not aroused.

When the limits of the community were reached, however, Charles Baird reported to the police, the machine was speeded up and soon disappeared along the county road.

The second depredation of the day by the same gang was reported fifteen minutes later, when Albert Lawrence informed the police that the men had stopped him at the point of a shotgun and stolen his automobile.

DEATH THREATENED OWNER OF CAR

They forced him to leave the wheel, he said, and stand with hands upraised while they hurriedly searched him and then, with threatening words ordered him to remain quiet under penalty of death.

Lawrence brought the abandoned car into San Leandro, where the police declared it had formerly been the property of A. Sullivan of San Francisco. A search to determine whether or not the car had been previously stolen was being made.

The second holdup occurred near San Leandro, when the change to the lighter car driven by Lawrence was made.

Headed toward Oakland at a breakneck pace the police feared that the robbers may have entered the city before posses were enabled to begin their patrol work on the county roads.

Examiners were immediately set to work at the bank to determine the exact sum taken by the bandits. A rough estimate, said to have been made by the president at the hospital, fixed the total in the neighborhood of $50,000.

BANDITS ARE YOUNG MEN

On his arrival at Oakland police headquarters, Lawrence described the bandits as being between the ages of 27 and 30. Although all of a swarthy complexion, he said they spoke English without foreign accent.

The man thought by Lawrence to be the leader was dressed in a shabby gray suit, he said, while his three companions wore dark blue suits and caps. The apparent leader was armed with a sawed-off shotgun, he asserted. Lawrence makes his home at 877 Watkins street, Hayward.

UNION MEN DENY MIXING WITH O. B. U.

Charge of J. H. MacLafferty At Bankers' Meeting That Admission Into Organization Was Sought is Refuted

Better America Federation Names "Mr. Collins" As Intermediary in Alleged Application to Join Radicals

Charging that the Building Trades Council of Alameda county has made application for membership in the "One Big Union," J. H. MacLafferty made an impassioned appeal against Bolshevism when he spoke before Group Six of the California Bankers' Association at Hayward yesterday afternoon.

MacLafferty declared that he derived the information relative to the Building Trades Council from the Better American Federation, of which he is the local president.

Samuel J. Donahue, president of the Alameda County Building Trades Council, declared today that the assertion that the council had made application for membership in the O. B. U. was false.

"As head of this organization I would not countenance such a move," said Donahue. "This is a broad statement on the part of MacLafferty, to say the least. I would like to know where he got such information. He should check up on such a report and find out first if it is true before making such charges. It is absolutely untrue."

"MR. COLLINS" NAMED AS COUNCIL AGENT

The Better America Federation stated today in support of MacLafferty's charges that on October 4, at a meeting of the "One Big Union," at 813 Broadway, a "Mr. Collins," who represented himself as a member of the Alameda County Building Trades Council, was the principal spokesman before the organization. He said, according to the Better America Federation that both the Alameda county and San Francisco Building Trades Councils had made application to the O. B. U. for membership. According to the Better America Federation Collins declared that the American Federation of Labor had not been fair with the local organization and that the national organization was composed of a "bunch of tricksters." He said, according to MacLafferty, that application had been made to the headquarters of the O. B. U. in Chicago.

Donahue said that he had searched through the records of the Building Trades and could not identify Collins.

"The O. B. U.," said Donahue, "is an organization we are fighting. Its members are likewise fighting us. Collins, whoever he is, no doubt made the statement, if it was made, for the purpose of creating ill feeling in our ranks. The O. B. U. has been denounced by the Building Trades Council time and time again, as it has been likewise denounced by the American Federation of Labor.

DONAHUE SAYS CHARGE IS ALL FALSE

"We displayed our stand recently when we cast from our ranks men sympathetic with the O. B. U. To say that we have made application for membership in the O. B. U. is an insult to the principles of Americanism, [illegible] which we are fighting. We have no room in our organization for men of the radical type. The O. B. U. is composed of radicals.

"The statement that we made application for membership in the O. B. U. is absolutely false. I should like very much to know who Collins is."

"The physical trouble with the United States is that it is suffering from a torpid liver," MacLafferty exclaimed at the bankers' meeting, which was held at Hayward. "It is obvious that the bankers of the nation must take drastic action in bringing a realization of the true situation to the country at large. If we can bring about an understanding of the serious condition we are facing we can successfully fight the Bolshevists and restore the nation to a normal economic, industrial and political health."

Further warning against the "red" menace was also given by MacLafferty in a serious talk against the improper care of conditions at the present time.

"America's future is in the balance," he declared. "We are forced to fight, but we must remember in this talk of killing the Bolshevists, that they can kill as well as we can. The menace that has arisen in our midst can and must be eradicated."

SOAP-BOX ORATORS ARE DECLARED MENACE

MacLafferty concluded his address with an appeal to the organization to appoint delegates to assist in combating the evil influence of the "misguided soap-box orator."

Group Six met in convention yesterday at the Hayward high school. At 10.30 o'clock, the organization enjoyed what was characterized as "two hours of concentrated fun," with a baseball game, tennis and foot races as outstanding features. At noon the group was served with a basket luncheon prepared by girls

Bomb, Flames Wreck Home In Grove Street

Explosion Believed to Have Been of Incidentiary Origin; Girl is Heroine.

An incendiary bomb, filled with gasoline was responsible for the fire that last night destroyed a portion of the large residence of William Williamson at 1515 Grove street, according to a theory advanced during a rigid investigation today.

Flames which leaped from the structure immediately following what was characterized by neighbors as a "muffled explosion" were said to have reached 100 feet skyward, and the entire rear of the building was apparently immediately enveloped. Williamson was unaware of the blaze until practically the kitchen and back porch were consumed.

According to the story he told the police, his little 15-year-old granddaughter, Marion Drabek, was the medium by which the fire department was notified and the remainder of the building saved. Her presence of mind, he said saved the situation, for on perceiving the flames, she ran to the corner and breaking the glass on the alarm box with a rock sent in the call.

Sixteen roomers in the house, awakened by the heat and smoke, fled scantily clad from the house, abandoning valuables and clothes in the rush to safety. No one, as far as has been ascertained, was more than slightly injured.

Working on the possible theory that the blaze was due to the activities of an incendiary, the police today determined that an unidentified man had been seen running from the yard of the premises shortly before the explosion. Neighbors [illegible] just entering their home across the street said that the man of whom they could give no working description, ran out of the Fifteenth street entrance and up the street. Two minutes later the explosion occurred.

Authorities across the bay were to be notified today to search for several arson suspects.

Davie Leaves Bed To Vote For Memorial

Hobbling into the council chambers and seating himself near the door, Mayor Davie, who was injured in an automobile accident Monday, this morning voted at the second reading of an ordinance calling $[illegible] in bonds for the establishment of a soldier's memorial building in Oakland.

It is necessary to secure four votes. Commissioner Baccus was to appear for the mayor, and as Commissioner Morse was attending the funeral of a fire lieutenant and a hurry call had to be sent for the mayor to gain the necessary four votes.

Baccus, in voting for it, said his vote was a formality and against his best judgment. Baccus has stated that a war memorial should have a more appropriate building than the old Masonic hall at Fifteenth and Madison.

Billion Dollar Loss is Seen For Cotton and Farms of West; Burning of Gins in Southern States Continues

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—"General bankruptcy and ruin are inevitable," unless some immediate remedy is found to relieve the present price situation as it affects the farmer, says a report submitted to the agricultural conference here today by a general committee appointed to study the situation.

The committee blames the Federal Reserve system for present prices, charging that it "has arbitrarily" withheld from assisting the basic industry of this country to maintain a level of prices that at least would meet the cost of production.

The committee says "it is wrong as a matter of policy artificially to press down prices of commodities, and it is particularly wrong to begin with the raw commodities, for such a program inevitably forces upon the producers the heaviest burden of reconstruction and readjustment."

The report of the committee says the present situation [illegible] about by the following official acts:

"Restriction of credits."

"Raising the rate of discount on farm products."

"Discontinuance of the war finance corporation."

COTTON AND FARMS FACE BILLION LOSS

BY UNITED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The South is facing a loss of more than $500,000,000 on its cotton crop, according to J. J. Brown, agricultural commissioner of Georgia, attending a conference of farmers.

Wheat growers of the West and Central West are face to face with a similar probable loss due to the fall in the price of wheat, according to John Tremble, Beloit, Kan., another delegate.

Wheat sold at an average price of $2.14 per bushel October 1, according to the agricultural department reports. Cotton is now selling at 21 cents a pound.

"It costs 35.1 cents per pound to produce cotton," said Commissioner Brown. "We're going to lose $50 on every bale we sell at 21 cents. The crop this year will run more than 11,000,000 bales.

"The action of Night Riders who threaten to burn gins and crops of farmers who sell for 21 cents does not represent the true sentiment of the South."

"To produce wheat costs $2.77 a bushel," said Tremble. "Therefore a price of $2.14 represents a loss of 63 cents per bushel."

DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 13.—Value of cotton gins, compresses and cotton destroyed in Texas by "fire of mysterious origin," following Night Riders' warnings reached $1,125,000, it was estimated today.

Since Monday morning [illegible] gins have been destroyed or damaged.

Indiscriminate Killing is Alleged in A Confidential Report of Former Commander of Noted Organization

3250 Natives With Arms Are Killed in Five and Half Years By the American Forces, is Revelation Made

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Evidence of practically "indiscriminate killing" of Haitian natives by United States Marines was brought to the attention of Colonel John H. Russell, commanding the Marine force in Haiti, in a confidential letter, written by Major-General George Barnett, commandant of the corps, in October, 1919, calling for a thorough investigation of conditions.

General Barnett declared in his letter, which was made public today in a report on operations in Haiti while he was commandant of the corps, that he was "shocked beyond expression" to hear of such conditions in Haiti, and "to know that it was at all possible that duty could be badly performed by marines of any class."

BARNETT DID NOT GET THE REPORT

General Barnett said that while Colonel Russell made a special report of his investigation to Secretary Daniels, March [illegible], it was not received by the General up to the time he was succeeded as commandant of the corps by Major-General John A. Lejune last June 30.

General Barnett's report on the matter to Secretary Daniels was submitted last month. It revealed that his orders for an investigation resulted from evidence brought out at the courtmartial of two privates in the Marine Corps on charges connected with unlawful executions of captive Haitian bandits.

INDISCRIMINATE KILLINGS CLAIMED

The General declared in his letter to Colonel Russell, marked personal and confidential that testimony at the trial, as well as arguments presented by counsel for the defense, Lieutenant F. L. Spear, showed me that practically indiscriminate killing of natives has gone on for some time."

General Barnett's report showed that to date 3250 armed Haitians have been killed by United States Marines or Haitian gendarmerie during the last five and one-half years of American occupation.

Total Marine Corps casualties to date were shown to be one officer and twelve enlisted men killed, and two officers and twenty-six enlisted men wounded.

Battle Begun For Millions Of E. F. Searles

BOSTON, Oct. 13.—The legal battle for the millions of Edward F. Searles, the recluse millionaire of Methuen and New York who died [illegible] court here today. It was indicated the attempt by Victor Albert Searles, a Boston artist, who was a nephew of the testator would be based on a contention that the aged millionaire was not fit physically or mentally at the time the will was drawn to understand or to make such an intricate instrument as that offered for probate.

By the will Arthur T. Walker of New York, [illegible] was made residuary legatee of the estate which is estimated at between $[illegible] and $[illegible] and the nephew was left $250,000. Victor Albert Searles has already forfeited the [illegible] as it was stipulated in the will that should he contest the will the money would go to the University of California.

MRS. WARBURTON IS NAMED AGAIN TO ENFORCE THE LAW

Deposed Woman Vindicated Upon Return by Being Put Back on Former Job; Scores Investigators

BOOZE RING PROBE IS BEGUN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—Mrs. Glad Kimball Warburton, who was removed last week as state prohibition director, today received a telegram from Washington appointing her "to the office of supervising agent of prohibition for California." There was some doubt as to what the telegram meant, officials of the United States attorney's office and at the office of the prohibition director saying that it merely meant she was assigned to a post in the supervising agent's office.

"It is a justification for me and is proof that Washington officials have not been hoodwinked by what has been done and said in California," Mrs. Warburton declared.

John L. Considine, who succeeded Mrs. Warburton as prohibition director, however, said that the appointment meant nothing so far as authority is concerned.

Just what Mrs. Warburton's duties will be, seemed unclear at the Federal building. The position, it was pointed out, is newly created. In a previous statement Mrs. Warburton declared Frank M. Silva, Justus Wardell and others were not dealing fairly with her.

NOTHING, SAYS RUTTER

Mrs. Warburton's purported appointment to office, according to Sam Rutter field supervisor of the prohibition enforcement office, does not change her status as a stenographer working under civil service rules. John Considine, supervising enforcement officer and temporary prohibition director, according to Rutter, yesterday telegraphed Washington requesting that Mrs. Warburton be transferred from the office of the prohibition director, where she formerly had been a stenographer, to the office of the enforcement prohibition office in the same capacity.

"The appointment is not a promotion at all," declared Rutter. "Mrs. Warburton, as a matter of fact, always has been listed as a stenographer under the jurisdiction of the civil service commission. It is clearly a case of transferring a stenographer from one office of the prohibition enforcement division to the other office of the same administration."

"Silva, Wardell, and the rest of them find out that the files are not complete in the office of the prohibition director," declared Mrs. Warburton who returned to the city after she had read in a paper at Ogden, the charges made against her. "They know why the records are gone. They ask about missing permits. Let them ask me."

Then Mrs. Warburton asked where the missing McKenzie permits have gone, one for 201 gallons and one for 10 barrels of whisky.

"There is one McKenzie permit about which I can relate some interesting details," said Mrs. Warburton. "It applied for the withdrawal of 18 barrels of whisky and 5 of gin. While the investigation was pending Handley was called to Los Angeles. As soon as he was gone I was bombarded by everyone, outside and [illegible] to release this liquor for McKenzie.

"Edward Kenny asked me to approve it. They telephoned to Los Angeles to try and get Handley to make me approve it. Then Jack Costello, Senator Phelan's secretary, telephoned me. I told him I would not approve the permit in Handley's absence and he wired to Handley.

"When Handley returned he said that so strong political pressure had been brought to bear that he would have to sign the permit, although it was against his judgment."

WHERE ARE RECORDS FOR BOURBON BOOZE.

Absolute denial that she ever signed any blank permits and a declaration that certain permits about which officials have based investigations, if existent, are forgeries characterized Mrs. Warburton's first [illegible] She cited [illegible] of [illegible] the officers to answer her questions regarding the permits and [illegible]

"Where are the records of the [illegible] barrels of [illegible] among the [illegible] were [illegible] prohibition [illegible] a position he never [illegible] as a [illegible] collector, which he never was.

"Let them explain what became of the [illegible] bottles of imported whisky taken from Colonel Jackling's private [illegible]

The charges made against her are for the purpose of covering [illegible] of Mrs. Warburton, who says that she will welcome a chance to [illegible] before the grand jury to tell all she knows.

"What does Considine do when he takes charge of the office I have vacated?" is still another question.

Gigantic Ring In Bold Booze Frauds Charged

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Federal authorities today are following trails of evidence that they believe will lead them to the leaders of a gigantic liquor ring that already has consummated it is alleged, deals in contraband booze aggregating approximately $3,000,000. Men high in public life are said to be involved, reports current today declaring that two members of the United States Congress are implicated.

It is alleged that bribes aggregating more than $200,000 have been paid public officials in Chicago within the last few weeks. Persons connected with the internal revenue and prohibition departments are alleged to have received sums ranging from $500 to $50,000.

United States District Attorney Clyne declared today that the evidence presented to the grand jury "will disclose a scandal that will shake Chicago."

That an employee of the internal revenue collector's office was given a bribe of $30,000 for forging a permit allowing a shipment of $125,000 worth of whisky from Louisville to Chicago, was charged in a confession alleged to have been made by H. N. Sadler, New York broker. The confession implicated officials of a Louisville distillery and [illegible] saloon keepers here. Sadler, according to the reported confession, also obtained permits in New York City by paying $500 to an insurance broker.

STEAMER, ADRIFT FOR 48 HOURS, IS PICKED UP BY TUG

Adrift for more than forty-eight hours the steamer Centralia, one of two ships reported in distress on the Pacific coast, was picked up today and towed toward San Francisco by the tug Wyadda.

At the same time steps were being taken to pull the Mexican gunboat Progreso off the reef on which she was hurled early yesterday on the coast of Lower California.

The Centralia, according to meager reports reaching here, broke her propeller shaft when abreast of Santa Cruz and some twenty miles out. Failure to obtain help by wireless caused Captain John Roberts to summon help by rowboat, and the long haul was only completed on the assistance of a coastwise fishing boat. Reports from Santa Cruz declare that Roberts brought his vessel close to shore by the aid of sails and anchored.

Last advices from Progreso declared that the steamer Anetta Rolph, bound from Valparaiso to San Francisco, was standing by to render assistance in removing the gunboat from the reef.

Governor Asked to Declare Holiday on Armistice Day

Resolutions requesting Governor Stephens to declare Armsitic Day, November 11, a legal holiday, were drafted last night during a point meeting of the American Legion with the Allied Fliers Club of Oakland which is directing preparations for the celebration of Armistice Week in Oakland. These resolutions and others were forwarded this morning to posts of the American Legion within the sixth congressional district asking them to participate in the festivities that will center in Oakland during the period.

The supervision of the Armistice Day parade in Oakland and the details of its formation were turned over last night at the joint meeting to the Merchants' Exchange. Committees are now being appointed from civic and fraternal organizations that have been invited to parade.

The Legion committee working on the Armistice Week celebration: J. W. Collier, chairman; W. T. Hopkins, H. Weber, Captain E. B. Field, W. J. Petersen, Dr. J. R. Booth, H. Nelson, S. Silverstein, C. E. Capwell. With Henry C. Reynolds, representing the Fliers' Club and general chairman of committees, Collier will form an executive board.

William Henderson and Dr. John Slavish were appointed last night to carry the message of armistice week to the Elks, Eagles, Knights of Pythias and other Oakland fraternal and civic organizations.

Jack Reber, author and director of "Pep," a musical comedy to be presented at Ye Liberty theater in Oakland on October 8 to 13 inclusive, as the focal point of festivities, yesterday announced a new opening for the production. During the Ad Club luncheon yesterday, he signed "Brick," Ed Drew, famous University of California cheer leader and fifty rooters and Glea Club members for the curtain raiser. The cast of "Pep" will be all-star with music improvised from 17 new operatic comedies, according to Reber.

The showing of "Pep" is intended to aid the Legion in meeting a deficit and the Allied Fliers' Club in keeping former officers in training and available for war duty in case of need.

TRADE WORKERS' PLACES UNFILLED

Jobs for workers with trades are plentiful now but for manual laborers and unskilled workmen of all kinds there are fewer jobs than there are men, according to Leo J. McCarthy, secretary of the Everyman's Club of the National Catholic War Council, at Eleventh and Franklin streets.

"Unskilled workmen are migrating southward from the north here just as the birds do, and, owing to the scarcity of work here, many of them are having a hard time to get by," McCarthy says.

$2,000,000 OIL DAMAGE SUIT IS FILED BY STOCK

Charging a conspiracy to defraud him and seeking the recovery of $2,000,000 in damages, H. E. Stock, formerly of Berkeley and now of Venice, has filed suit in Arizona against a large number of prominent business men who represent present ownership in the Success locations in the Salt Creek oil fields in Wyoming. Stock recently obtained more than $1,000,000 for his interest in the property, after he had refused to complete terms of settlement that called for the payment to him of $150,000. In the action which resulted in this larger transfer of money he was represented by C. H. Spinks of Berkeley.

O. H. Shoup, governor of Colorado, Karl O. Schuyler, Warren F. Schuyler and Lee Champion, attorneys, and a long string of oil companies are named as the defendants in the action. Stock alleges that he was an oil driller and ignorant of the ways of business and that he was tricked of his rightful interests by misrepresentation and fraud.

Into the suit are woven the names of William M. Fitzhugh, San Francisco capitalist, and William G. Henshaw of Oakland, who at one time were interested in the Salt Creek field. Neither is named as a defendant in the suit, but Stock charges that in 1910 they attempted to jump his claims.

Incorporation of various new companies for the purpose of juggling the patents is charged by the Berkeley man, who says that it was in July, 1919, that he first discovered the alleged conspiracy against him.

Painting Exhibit is Planned in Oakland

An exhibition of paintings of moderate size will be held in the Oakland Art Gallery from October 20 to November 20. There is no definite size limit but the hanging committee reserves the right to reject large works should the available wall space be exceeded.

Paintings must be delivered at the gallery on or before October 18, or at the California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco, not later than October 16.

The exhibition of William Keith's paintings terminates this week.

Communications about the new exhibition may be made to W. H. Clapp, director of the Art Gallery, Lakeside 1920.

TRIBUTE PAID BY MASONS TO DEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—Memorial services were held this afternoon at the seventy-first annual meeting of the California Grand Lodge, F. and A. M., to renew thought of and homage for three grand officers.

James E. Stevens, past grand master, James W. Anderson, past grand lecturer and George P. Adams, past grand tyler, were those honored.

At the morning session the Masons heard A. E. Boynton and William P. Filmer speak. Filmer spoke of the Red Cross.

At the Scottish Rite auditorium tonight the grand officers and the delegates who are attending the session will be guests of honor at a general reception. There are more than 800 in the city.

Yesterday afternoon the delegates heard and saw in the motion pictures the story of the operation of the two homes of the order in Decoto, Alameda county, and near Los Angeles.

FATHER ACCUSED OF KILLING BABY

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—William Kolenski, aged 24, was under arrest today charged with the murder of his four-months old baby boy.

Police were first told, they said, that the baby was killed in an accidental fall, but the report of an autopsy surgeon was that the injuries which caused death could not have resulted from such a fall. They claimed they had reason to believe that the father, possibly in a fit of anger, dashed the child against a wall. The baby died Saturday night.

Kolenski's wife is a Russian girl, whom he married while serving with the American forces in Serbia.

Professor Ira B. Cross of the economics department was one of the principal speakers. J. W. Cline Jr., president of the Associated Students, described the crowded conditions at the university. He said that in some classes there are more than 1000 students. Miss Drucille Rountree, president of the Associated Students, was another speaker.

The university glee club quartet and jazz trio rendered numbers.

Candidate is Given Sixty Days to Fatten

Faced with an enlongated candidate who is too light to be a policeman, and also faced with a dire shortage of candidates for policemen, the Civil Service Board last night decided to give the candidate sixty days to fatten up.

The decision was not couched in exactly that language, but it means the same thing. The board suggested that he get himself into "better physical shape." Otherwise, it is said, the candidate is perfect.

The board was forced to rely upon the statutes, which provide certain weights as necessary for Oakland policemen to carry.

Well-Dressed Woman Thrust From Auto

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—Police and hospital authorities are endeavoring to establish the identity of a beautiful, well-dressed young woman found early this morning wandering in a dazed condition in the Richmond district. She told physicians at Central Emergency Hospital she had been thrown out of an automobile at the conclusion of a struggle with one of the members of a party which left last night to tour resorts in San Mateo county and on the beach.

The young woman was found sitting on the steps of a house at 1133 Eleventh avenue. She was in a semi-conscious condition.

LIFE WAS A MISERY TO HER

Says this Woman Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Carrollton, Ky.—"I suffered almost two years with female weakness. I could not walk any distance, ride or take any exercise at all without resting. If I swept the floor or did any kind of work it would bring my sickness on. I was weak, languid, had no energy and life was a misery to me. I was under the care of a good physician for several months and tried other remedies. I had read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking twelve bottles I found myself much improved and I took six more. I have never had any more trouble in that respect since. I have done all kinds of work and at present am an attendant at a State Hospital and am feeling fine. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to dozens of my friends and shall always recommend it."—LILLIAN T. THARP, 824 S. 6th St., Carrollton, Ky.

If you have any symptom about which you would like to know write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for helpful advice given free of charge.

DOCTORS OPPOSED TO CHANGING LAWS

A statement against proposed Amendments 5, 6 and 7 and a plea for the continuation of the present laws was made this morning by Dr. Kirby Smith, Oakland Health Officer, who asserted that the public does not realize what the new amendments would mean, and that the anti-vivisection and anti-vaccination statutes, as proposed, are framed by men "devoid of scientific attainments entirely."

"The State does not realize what animal experimentation has done," says Smith. "For instance, 250 guinea pigs saved the olive industry of California. California olives were being banned because of certain alleged properties. The University made experiments and, by noting the effect of the olives upon the pigs, finally evolved a method for eradicating all the objections against our olives.

"In the case of hog-cholera, animal experimentation has saved the farmers of California millions of dollars.

"The medicines in every drug store in California are standardized as to their strength and properties. How are they standardized? By experiments on humans? No. They are the result of less costly experiments on lower animals.

"So far as cruelty is concerned, I am a doctor who loves animals, and if I were made to stroke a woman carrying a lap-dog or the dog, I would never touch the dog."

Smith says the anti-vaccination law would prevent the officials from keeping relatives of contagiously diseased children from the schools. "I am against all the measures," he says.

TWO YOUTHS FROM OIL FIELDS HELD

Hiding in a Castro Valley garage, Deputy Sheriffs Bert Brown and Joe Soares and Constable L. LaCunha captured Jess B. Duncan and Jack Tyler, 21-year-old youths from Taft, when they returned to the place to get an alleged stolen car.

Duncan, a tool dresser, and Tyler, a driller, are alleged to have stolen the car in Bakersfield. Sheriff Newell of Bakersfield wired Sheriff Barnet and deputies were on the lookout. The men offered no resistance to arrest.

AUTOISTS ARE ASKED TO USE E. FOURTEENTH

A request that autoists take East Twelfth street was issued this morning by Superintendent of Streets George Mattis, as the Western Pacific is re-tracking its line on Twelfth from Twentieth to Twenty-fourth avenue.

Street signs will be swung across the street today.

The re-tracking and re-paving is the result of a long campaign by Mattis, who says the street will be much better for automobile traffic when completed. The Western Pacific will install groove rails, which will be easier on automobiles crossing the street.

SIX ARRESTED IN NARCOTICS RAID

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—Operatives from the State Board of Pharmacy today inaugurataed what they say is to be a determined effort to break up an organization which has for its objective the theft of narcotics from hospitals to be sold to addicts when they took six men into custody, in different parts of the city.

Jules Sandell, an orderly at the Franklin hospital, was the first man arrested. He was taken into custody as he was leaving the institution. According to the authorities, Sandell had in his possession a large quantity of drugs which he is said to have confessed stealing from the hospital for disposal to addicts. Sandell was charged with being one of the main factors in the alleged drug peddling organization.

Sandell then took the officers to a room at 905 Ellis street, where Thos. Wood, Frank Howard, Ernest Johnson, Albert Kerr and Tony Woods were taken into custody and charged with violating the State Poison law. A large quantity of drugs also was seized.

Sandell and his associates, it is charged, have been concentrating their efforts on forming affiliations with men and women in the different hospitals in San Francisco, who have access to drug supplies.

Booze Carried Off By Thirsty Thieves

A number of minor burglaries and petty thefts, chief among them being the robbery of A. Eppstein's room at the Hotel Claremont of a diamond ring and ten pints of whisky, were on file today at police headquarters.

A burglar with a thirst took ten gallons of wine from the home of Mrs. Mary Peters, 917 Pine street.

An electric piano motor and decoy ducks were stolen from the California Yacht Club at the foot of Fourteenth street.

Why Typhoid Fever is rare in Oakland

The typhoid death rate in Oakland is one of the lowest in the nation for cities of more than 100,000. As typhoid is a water-borne disease, no better proof of the purity of the water used by those living in the east Bay Cities could be desired.

Before any of the water from Lake San Leandro, one of the great storage reservoirs of the system, is transported to any of the distribution reservoirs, it is passed through sand filters. The water is treated with a coagulant to make the heavier impurities sink to the bottom, then passed through fine white Monterey sand. Any impurities, even bacteria, are held on the grains of sand—only pure water goes through.

To prove that the filtering process is working perfectly, a specimen of this "finished" water is sent to the Western Laboratories daily for analysis.

The men at the various filter plants who have been trusted with the responsibility of making the water for 330,000 people safe, are: Henry Lang, who has served the company for 20 years, (pictured operating the great water valve which controls the flow of water into the filter); George Evans who has served 5 years; Frank and Ed. Harlow, 20; Tony Bettencourt, 8; Geo. Giesenhoffer, 5; and Tim Tierney, Superintendent of San Leandro, 33.

SPEEDER ESCAPES, ONE MAN HURT

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—After being pursued through the downtown streets by several policemen in a commandeered automobile, an unidentified driver today escaped capture after running down and seriously injuring Michael Fitch, a foreman, for the United Railroads, at Third and Mission streets. Fitch was hurled more than fifteen feet, suffering concussion of the brain and several fractured ribs.

According to spectators, the car which struck Fitch was traveling 70 miles an hour and hurdled clear over a large excavation in the center of the street. Fitch was in charge of the men who were digging the excavation. Several of the men narrowly missed the same fate that befell their foreman.

Cry on Geraldine's Shoulder

If you have a tear to shed, a laugh to share or a view to air, write to Geraldine. She and her shoulder BELONG TO YOU. Letters will be answered through this column. If you desire a private answer, enclose a stamped and addressed envelope.

Some families have Family Skeletons, and think they're badly off. But I know of a family that's got something worse in its midst. A SORROWING SOUL. Once upon a time one of the members made a misstep. She immediately regretted it, which was wise. But she's kept on regretting it ever since — which was foolish. There's a theory that Sorrowing Souls are sacred things. Personally I think they're about as comfortable to have around as leaky faucets.

I do not believe in prolonging repentance any more than I believe in prolonging carpet beating or any other necessary but tiresome hygienic measure. Repentance has gathered a sort of halo unto itself because it has to do with spiritual things. But as a matter of fact there are just as unpleasant spiritual functions as there are pleasant ones, so why give 'em all halos?

A Necessary Evil

There's no doubt that repentance is a necessary institution. If you have something in your program that makes for hurt and waste be sorry for it and eliminate it as quickly as possible. And then—FORGET IT. There's nothing to be gained by growing mold. Why depress everyone that knows you by dragging around a memory that ought to be under the daisies? I've met a lot of Repentees who would have made the rest of the world a lot more comfortable by staying Sinners.

IT'S JUST AS WRONG TO STEEP YOURSELF IN SORROW AS IT IS TO STEEP YOURSELF IN SIN. IN EITHER CASE YOU'RE STEEPING YOURSELF IN SELF AND NEGLECTING YOUR REGULAR JOB OF BEING A COMPANIONABLE HUMAN. You're a blight when you're committing your sin. But if you keep on shutting yourself up in the memory of it, you're a worse blight while you're repenting it.

The big question in life isn't what you have done with yourself, but WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO FOR THE WORLD. Tears and whines won't answer it. They're as stupid as the nails the Hindoo Fakirs stick into their flesh. The only REAL "being sorry" is to get out and hustle and be a pal to the gang.

A Slow-Moving Suitor

Dear Geraldine—

I have been going with a young man nearly steady for eight years. He seems very fond of me and calls on me regularly and resents it if I go out with anyone else, so I never do any more. He also has a good position. Yet he does not definitely propose—just hints. I feel bound to him yet I think he ought to say something. What shall I do? JANE.

Even the most delicate hint ought to flower into a proposal after eight years of courting. What that young man needs is a jolt, Jane. That isn't love making. It's merely a Tiresome Habit. He's so comfortable that he doesn't realize it and the only way you can wake him up is to make him a bit uncertain as he was at the start of things. Go out with other folks, or if there are no other folks handy go out with yourself and be quite mysterious about it. Have folks in and beam your beamingest—but not on him. It's really up to you Jane. How much would you want mince pie if you could have it without the asking three times a day?

Improving the Figure

Dear Geraldine—

I am 19 years old and have a fairly good figure but lately my arms and shoulders have become so fat and heavy looking it spoils my appearance entirely. Please tell me what to do? DORISS J.

Heaviness around the shoulders is hard to eliminate, Doriss. I have heard of wonderful results from daily bathings with hot solutions of Epsom Salts. But no such remedy is a "sure cure." The best helps in such matters are posture and dressing. Heavy shoulders and arms are not unattractive if you carry yourself well. A rotary exercise of the chin and neck muscles will keep your neck firm and enable you to hold your head well. Do not slouch or, above all, do not wear tight clothing in the hope of correcting a stout appearance. Affect the straight lines from the shoulder, with no marked waist line. Make your sleeves roomy, long and simple. Snug fittings exaggerate size.

Games for a Party

Dear Geraldine—

I am 16 years old. I am going to have a party October 20. Please tell me some nice games to play. EVA CONNELLY.

"Fortunes" are always a lark. Make each boy write a girl's fortune and each girl write a boy's fortune—with no reference to names. Then mix them up and draw. Each one must read his or her fortune aloud. Dim the lights and tell a ghost story. Sit in a circle on the floor and let one start, talk for three minutes, then the next one take it up and add three minutes more of horrors, and so on—each one trying to make his part more horrible than the one before.

Emphasize Its Uniqueness

Dear Geraldine—

I am a school girl and I have the MEANEST hair. It is as straight as a stick and I cannot do a thing with it unless I curl it and then it comes out if it rains. What shall I do? TROUBLED.

Stop calling your hair names, sweetheart. Straight hair is wonderful if you know how to manage it. It has as much right to its straightness as your nose has to its shape, and you don't try to curl that do you? Hair usually fits the style of face it grows with, if people only knew. Begin by brushing and BRUSHING it, every single night, until all its natural gloss begins to show. Try to get every roughness out of it. Make it as smooth as glass. Then choose some strikingly plain method of hair dressing. Straight back, with the tiniest wisp of a bang, and a slight fullness over the ears is good. Or braid it and wrap it in two braids around the head. The following is effective: Part it and tie it firmly at the neck in back. Divide in two portions, unbraided, and wrap around the head like a turban. Cover with a net and put a barette in back over the tying.

The Letters of Tessie and Joe

Joe is a traveling salesman. Tessie is his loving wife. Follow their letters in The OAKLAND TRIBUNE

DEAR JOE:

Fred Sparks and May Ditson dropped in last night for a chat, but when I realized that chat was consisting of them gazing into each other's eyes like two prodigal calfs and calling each other engagement names, why I put a new jazz record on the talking machine for a breath of fresh air.

Well, Joe, at that Fred and May got up and offered to show me some of the latest jazz steps. At least they called them steps but believe me Joe if you looked up the word "step" in the dictionary it wouldn't give you no idea of the complications those two went through. You know that little 2 by 3 rug in the parlor that we sometimes think may be real Turkish because the man that kept the rug store had such a peculiar dark complexion? Well anyways, Fred and May started to dance on that, and when the record gave its dying gasp they was still on it and hadn't been off once! Can you imagine that, Joe? Half the time they were just standing still as far as their feet were concerned, but otherwise flapping themselves like two flags waiting for a breeze.

Afterwards May asked me what I thought of it and I says to her, "Why, am I supposed to think of it?" I says, "I felt guilty enough just looking at it." And May says, "Oh Tessie," she says, "you're so slow you hardly know the war's over." And I says, "Well," I says, "I may be slow but I guess I'm speedy enough to move off a small Turkish rug once or twice in the course of a 12-inch record." There wasn't any need to leave her know there's any doubt about it being Turkish, was there, Joe?

Anyway, Joe, I don't know what dancing is coming to, or rather, to be more specifical, I don't know where it has gone to, because it's certainly seemed to of disappeared in a mass of Swedish exercises.

I think it's awful about Charles Chaplin's wife accusing him of being a Bolshevikie. A man with such beautiful eyes that never lose their soulful look even in the midst of the worst accidents couldn't possibly be a Bolshevikie and I got a good mind to write and tell her so.

Your loving

TESSIE.

Joe grows a bit sentimental tomorrow, and also has a word on the Italian situation.

Oregon Editor Finds Bomb in His Office

NORTH BEND, Ore., Oct. 13.—Failure to burn of the fuse attached to a gallon syrup jar filled with dynamite probably prevented the destruction of the plant of the Sunday Morning Bee, a newspaper published by Frank B. Cameron. Cameron resides in the building. He found the bomb in the basement of the Bee office. Examination of the bomb by the police showed that the fuse, which had been run through the top of the jar, had been squeezed together and this is believed to have extinguished the fuse after it had been set afire. No clew to the identity of the bomb's maker has been found, the police said.

Society Brand Clothes

FOR YOUNG MEN AND MEN WHO STAY YOUNG

To the man who is worried about the cost of clothing

The cost of clothing is in the materials and in the labor.

The labor costs practically the same to all clothing manufacturers.

The cloth in a suit of clothes will average 3⅓ yards.

To make cheaper clothes one must either use less labor—do fewer things that ought to be done—or use cheaper materials.

To reduce the labor cost by reducing hand-tailoring damages fit, finish and durability. To reduce the cost of materials (only 3⅓ yards to a suit) must mean a big loss of quality if any noticeable reduction is made.

Society Brand Clothes are designed and tailored for men who have the good clothes habit; for men who want up-to-the-minute styles always in good taste and so well made up they will stay that way.

They have never been cheap clothes.

They are not cheap clothes now.

They are not to be compared with cheap clothes.

The man who buys Society Brand Clothes need not worry about style, tailoring or quality of the all-wool fabric.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

HUMOR—PATHOS—ROMANCE

Master of Arts

Copyright, 1920, by Doubleday, Page & Co. Published by special arrangement with the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

A two-inch stub of a blue pencil was the wand with which Keogh performed the preliminary acts of magic. So, with this he covered paper with diagrams and figures while he waited for the United States of America to send down to Coralio a success or to Atwood, resigned.

The new scheme that his mind had conceived, his stout heart indorsed, and his blue pencil corroborated, was laid around the characteristics and human frailties of the new president of Anchuria. These characteristics, and the situation out of which Keogh hoped to wrest a golden tribute, deserve chronicling contributive to the clear order of events.

President Losada—many called him Dictator—was a man whose genius would have made him conspicuous even among Anglo-Saxons, had not that genius been intermixed with other traits that were petty and subversive. He had some of the lofty patriotism of Washington (the man he most admired), the force of Napoleon, and much of the wisdom of the sages. These characterisitcs might have justified him in the assumption of the title of "The Illustrious Liberator," had they not been accompanied by a stupendous and amazing vanity that kept him in the less worthy ranks of the dictators.

Yet he did his country great service. With a mighty grasp he shook it nearly free from the shackles of ignorance and sloth and the vermin that fed upon it, and all but made it a power in the council of nations. He established schools and hospitals, built roads, bridges, railroads and palaces, and bestowed generous subsidies upon the arts and sciences. He was the absolute despot and the idol of his people. The wealth of the country poured into his hands. Other presidents had been rapacious without reason. Losada amassed enormous wealth, but his people had their share of the benefits.

The joint in his armor was his insatiate passion for monuments and tokens commemorating his glory. In every town he caused to be erected statues of himself bearing legends in praise of his greatness. In the walls of every public edifice, tablets were fixed reciting his splendor and the gratitude of his subjects. His statuettes and portraits were scattered throughout the land in every house and hut. One of the sycophants in his court painted him as St. John, with a halo and a train of attendants in full uniform. Losada saw nothing incongruous in this picture, and had it hung in a church in the capital. He ordered from a French sculptor a marble group including himself with Napoleon, Alexander the Great, and one or two others whom he deemed worthy of the honor.

He ransacked Europe for decorations, employing policy, money and intrigue to cajole the orders he coveted from kings and rulers. On state occasions his breast was covered from shoulder to shoulder with crosses, stars, golden roses, medals and ribbons. It was said that the man who could contrive for him a new decoration, or invent some new method of extolling his greatness, might plunge a hand deep into the treasury.

This was the man upon whom Billy Keogh had his eye. The gentle buccaneer had observed the rain of favors that fell upon those who ministered to the president's vanities and he did not deem it his duty to hoist his umbrella against the scattering drops of liquid fortune.

In a few weeks the new consul arrived, releasing Keogh from his temporary duties. He was a young man fresh from college, who lived for botany alone. The consulate at Coralio gave him the opportunity to study tropical flora. He wore smoked glasses and carried a green umbrella. He filled the cool, back porch of the consulate with plants and specimens so that space for a bottle and chair was not to be found. Keogh gazed on him sadly, but without rancor, and began to pack his gripsack. For his new plot against stagnation along the Spanish Main required of him a voyage overseas.

Soon came the Karlsefin again—she of the trampish habits—gleaning a cargo of cocoanuts for a speculative descent upon the New York market. Keogh was booked for a passage on the return trip.

"Yes, I'm going to New York," he explained to the group of his countrymen that had gathered on the beach to see him off. "But I'll be back before you miss me. I've undertaken the art education of this piebald country, and I'm not the man to desert it while it's in the early throes of tintypes."

With this mysterious declaration of his intentions, Keogh boarded the Karlsefin.

Ten days later, shivering, with the collar of his thin coat turned high, he burst into the studio of Carolus White at the top of a tall building in Tenth street, New York City.

Carolus White was smoking a cigarette and frying sausages over an oil stove. He was only 23, and had noble theories about art.

"Billy Keogh!" exclaimed White, extending the hand that was not busy with the frying pan. "From what part of the uncivilized world, I wonder!"

"Hello, Carry," said Keogh, dragging forward a stool, and holding his fingers close to the stove. "I'm glad I found you so soon. I've been looking for you all day in the directories and art galleries. The free-lunch man on the corner told me where you were quick. I was sure you'd be painting pictures yet."

Keogh glanced about the studio with the shrew eye of a connoisseur in business.

"Yes, you can do it," he declared, with many gentle nods of his head. "That big one in the corner with the angels and green clouds and bandwagon is just the sort of thing we want. What would you call that, Cary—scene from Coney Island, ain't it"?

"That," said White. "I had intended to call 'The Translation of Elijah,' but you may be nearer right than I am."

"Name doesn't matter," said Keogh, largely; "it's the frame and the varieties of paint that does the trick. Now, I can tell you in a minute what I want. I've come on a little voyage of two thousand miles to take you in with me on a scheme. I thought of you as soon as the scheme showed itself to me. How would you like to go back with me and paint a picture? Ninety days for the trip, and five thousand dollars for the job."

"Cereal food or hair tonic posters?" asked White.

"It isn't an ad."

"What kind of a picture is it to be?"

"It's a long story," said Keogh.

"Go ahead with it. If you don't mind, while you talk I'll just keep my eye on these sausages. Let 'em get one shade deeper than a Vandyke brown and you spoil 'em."

Keogh explained his project. They were to return to Coralio, where White was to pose as a distinguished American portrait painter who was touring in the tropics as a relaxation from his arduous and remunerative professional labors. It was not an unreasonable hope, even to those who had trod in the beaten paths of business, that an artist with so much prestige might secure a commission to perpetuate upon canvas the lineaments of the president, and secure a share of the pesos that were raining upon the caterers to his weaknesses.

Keogh had set his price at $10,000. Artists had been paid more for portraits. He and White were to share the expenses and the possible profits. Thus he laid the scheme before White, whom he had known in the West before one declared for Art and the other became a Bedouin.

Before long the two machinators abandoned the rigor of the bare studio for a snug corner of a cafe. There they sat far into the night, with old envelopes and Keogh's stub of blue pencil between them.

At 12 o'clock White doubled up in his chair, with his chin on his fist, and shut his eyes at the unbeautiful wall paper.

"I'll go you, Billy," he said, in the quiet tones of decision. "I've got two or three hundred saved up for sausages and rent; and I'll take the chance with you. Five thousand! It will give me two years in Paris and one in Italy."

"You'll begin in ten minutes," said Keogh. "It's tomorrow now. The Karlsefin starts back at 4 p. m. Come on to your painting shop, and I'll help you."

For five months in the year Coralio is the Newport on Anchuria. Then only does the town possess life. From November to March it is practically the seat of government. The president with his official family sojourns there; and society follows him. The pleasure-loving people make the season one long holiday of amusement and rejoicing. Fiestas, balls, games, sea bathing, processions and small theaters contribute to their enjoyment. The famous Swiss band from the capital plays in the little plaza every evening, while the fourteen carriages and vehicles in the town circle in funereal but complacent procession. Indians from the interior mountains, looking like prehistoric stone idols, come down to peddle their handiwork in the streets. The people throng the narrow ways, a chattering, happy, careless stream of buzzing humanity. Preposterous children rigged out with the shortest of ballet skirts and gilt wings, howl, underfoot, among the effervescent crowds. Especially is the arrival of the presidential party, at the opening of the season, attended with pomp, show and patriotic demonstrations of enthusiasm and delight.

When Keogh and White reached their destination, on the return trip of the Karlsefin, the gay winter season was well begun. As they stepped upon the beach they could hear the band playing in the plaza. The village maidens, with fireflies already fixed in their dark locks, were gliding barefoot and coy-eyed, along the paths. Dandies in white linen, swinging their canes, were beginning their seductive strolls. The air was full of human essence, of artificial enticement, of coquetry, indolence, pleasure—the man-made sense of existence.

The first two or three days after their arrival were spent in preliminaries. Keogh escorted the artist about town, introducing him to the little circle of English-speaking residents and pulling whatever wires he could to effect the spreading of White's fame as a painter. And then Keogh planned a more spectacular demonstration of the idea he wished to keep before the public.

He and White engaged rooms in the Hotel de los Estranjeros. The two were clad in new suits of immaculate duck, with American straw hats, and carried canes of remarkable uniqueness and inutility. Few caballeros in Coralio—even the gorgeously uniformed officers of the Anchurian army—were as conspicuous for ease and elegance of demeanor as Keogh and his friend, the great American painter, Senor White.

White set up his easel on the beach and made striking sketches of the mountain and sea views. The native population formed at his rear in a vast, chattering semicircle to watch his work. Keogh, with his care for details, had arranged for himself a pose which he carried out with fidelity. His role was that of friend to the great artist, a man of affairs and leisure. The visible emblem of his position was a pocket camera.

The Victoria sped away with the artist.

"For branding the man who owns it," said he, "a genteel dilettante with a bank account and an easy conscience, a steam-yacht ain't in it with a camera. You see a man doing nothing but loafing around making snap-shots, and you know right away he reads up well in 'Bradstreet.' You notice these old millionaire boys—soon as they get through everything else in sight they go to taking photographs. People are more impressed by a kodak than they are by a title or a four-karat scarf-pin." So Keogh strolled blandly about Coralio, snapping the scenery and the shrinking senoritas, while White posed conspicuously in the higher regions of art.

Two weeks after their arrival, the scheme began to bear fruit. An aide-de-camp of the president drove to the hotel in a dashing victoria. The president desired that Senor White come to the Casa Morena for an informal interview.

Keogh gripped his pipe tightly between his teeth. "Not a cent less than ten thousand," he said to the artist—"remember the price. And in gold or its equivalent—don't let him stick you with this bargain-counter stuff they call money here."

"Perhaps it isn't that he wants," said White.

"Get out!" said Keogh, with splendid confidence. "I know what he wants. He wants his picture painted by the celebrated young American painter and filibuster now sojourning in his down-trodden country. Off you go."

The victoria sped away with the artist. Keogh walked up and down, puffing great clouds of smoke from his pipe, and waited. In an hour the victoria swept again to the door of the hotel, deposited White, and vanished. The artist dashed up the stairs, three at a step. Keogh stopped smoking, and became a silent interrogation point.

"Landed," exclaimed White, with his boyish face flushed with elation. "Billy, you are a wonder. He wants a picture. I'll tell you all about it. By Heavens! that dictator chap is a corker! He's a dictator clear down to his finger ends. He's a kind of combination of Julius Caesar, Lucifer and Chauncey Depew done in sepia. Polite and grim—that's his way. The room I saw him in was about ten acres big, and looked like a Mississippi steamboat with its gilding and mirrors and white paint. He talks English better than I can ever hope to. The matter of the price came up. I mentioned ten thousand. I expected him to call the guard and have me taken out and shot. He didn't move an eyelash. He just waved one of his chestnut hands in a careless way, and said, 'Whatever you say.' I am to go back tomorrow and discuss with him the details of the picture."

Keogh hung his head. Self-abasement was easy to read in his downcast countenance.

"I'm failing, Carry," he said, sorrowfully. "I'm not fit to handle these man's-sized schemes any longer. Peddling oranges in a push-cart is about the suitable graft for me. When I said ten thousand, I swear I thought I had sized up that brown man's limit to within two cents. He'd have melted down for fifteen thousand just as easy. Say—Carry—you'll see old man Keogh safe in some nice, quiet idiot asylum won't you, if he makes a break like that again?"

A LIFE SAVED

87 Poe Street, San Francisco, Calif.
Sept. 24, 1920.

In the winter of 1918, when I was living in Oakland, on 22d street, I contracted influenza and was taken to the hospital at the Oakland Auditorium. My case was so serious that it was thought I could not live but a short time. I was therefore taken home again.

A lady friend of ours who had been drinking the FONG WAN HERBS for rheumatism, advised my wife to get some for me. At the time, the first cup was given me, my temperature was very high. I coughed a great deal at night, and I had not been able to sleep for some time.

I improved gradually and after having drunk the herbs, my cough and the soreness in my chest entirely disappeared. I have since gained over twenty pounds.

I feel so certain that the FONG WAN HERB SPECIALIST saved my life that I am not only glad to give this testimonial but would be willing to do anything else for him.

MY HEART and HUSBAND

by ADELE GARRISON

How Madge Evaded the Druggist's Questions.

"Please," he said, "don't fear that I shall ever trouble you with that old foolishness. But also remember that I am at your service whenever you need me. You can get me at any minute. I'm helping out an old school friend here, who was gassed in the war. And—I'm not even going to ask you where you are staying. So you see you are safe from annoyance at my hands."

I wish heartily sometimes that I was not blessed or afflicted—I never have determined which is the appropriate word to use—with a New England conscience. This unexpected meeting with Dr. Pettit in Mr. Crown's pharmacy was distinctly one of the times. If "the aforesaid N. E. C."—as Lillian always calls it—had been absent from my moral anatomy it would have been an easy thing for me to have accepted Dr. Pettit's humble effacing of himself with a few gracious, meaningless words and escaped the possible complications of renewing my friendship with him.

But his unexpected assurance that I would never be troubled again by the "old foolishness," together with his insistance that although he did not intend to ask where I was stopping, yet he wished me to know where I could reach him in case of any emergency needing him, brought back to me vivid memories of the unobtrusive yet wonderful care and watchfulness which this man had given me upon several occasions when I had needed him sorely. I had other memories, too of the long and faithful unpaid service he had given my father—service, indeed, which could not be paid in the ordinary mercenary sense of the word—service which had been given at the cost of a burning desire upon the young physician's part to take his place among the first medical units to go to France.

Obligations such as these could not be dismissed lightly. I saw my duty clearly, saw also that I must so disguise it, and that quickly, as to convince my father's friend of my sincerity.

"You are doing me a great injustice," I said quickly and warmly. "There is no unpleasantness connected with any memory of you, nothing but helpfulness to me and mine. I insist upon your knowing where I am and upon your coming to see us."

A HASTY GOOD-BY

I gave him the directions to enable him to find our little camp and hurried my words as I saw Mr. Crown emerging from his back room, on time to the second he had promised.

That I had pleased Dr. Pettit I saw by the gleam of pleasure and gratitude that lightened his sombre eyes. But all he had time to say was:

"Thank you—for—more than you know. I—shall—not—forget. Good day."

The last two words were for Mr Crown's ears. As he uttered them he bowed formally—he had been standing, as was his punctilious custom, with his hat in his hand as he talked to me—and turned with hands outstretched to receive the bundles the pharmacist carried.

"Just take these two top ones I'll put the others in the car for you," Mr. Crown offered, and the next moment I was alone in the pharmacy, idly watching the bestowing of the parcels in the physician's runabout. The last package was scarcely in place before Dr. Pettit was off at a pace which would have brought arrest to any one but a physician.

Mr Crown stood looking after him a moment, then came back into the pharmacy with unhurried step.

SHREWD SUPPOSITION

"The doc's sure some driver," he remarked genially on his way to the room at the back of the store. "He'll make up any time you or I may have lost for him between here and Huntington Path. Then the rest of the way to the hospital will be on his usual schedule. He's promised to be there at a certain time, and he'll land on the minute—if he doesn't break his neck," he added grimly as he disappeared behind the curtain.

When he came back again, two or three minutes later, and handed me the filled prescription for Marion he was still loquacious on the subject of the physician.

"The doc's a puzzle to lots of the folks around here," he said. "It's easy to see that he's one of your big city physicians that's used to a big practice, and what he wants to spend his time 'way out here in this small place for is a mystery. Not but what it's the finest place on earth to live or die in," he interpolated whimsically with the loyalty to one's abiding place shown in its greatest intensity in the east end of Long Island, "but it isn't natural for big professional people from the city to feel that way."

"Indeed, I think it is the most natural thing in the world," I returned hastily, seeing an easy way out of the shrewd questioning which I foresaw from the genial pharmacist. "This wonderful air and scenery and quiet is just what appeals to busy professional people. Dr Pettit did have a big practice in the city—he is a friend of my father's, and I know him quite well—but he gave it up for service in the army, and I suppose he prefers something like this until he gets himself together again—the medical men were under a fearful strain, you know."

"Of course—of course," Mr. Crown assented, evidently satisfied with my explanation.

But as I drove back to our little camp I wondered if I had spoken the truth or a falsehood.

EVERYBODY SPOKE WELL OF IT, SAYS SCOTT

"That Is Why I Began Taking Tanlac, But Now I Know from Personal Experience What It Will Do," States L. A. Man.

F. T Scott, proprietor of Scott's Market in the Economy Public Market, at the corner of Third and Main streets, Los Angeles, is one of the latest to testify to the remarkable reconstructive powers of Tanlac. Mr. Scott, or "Scotty," as he is familiarly known by all his friends and acquaintances, resides at 4425 North Griffen avenue. His full statement regarding the benefits he has derived from Tanlac, follows:

"I took Tanlac because everybody spoke so well of it, but now that I've tried it myself I know from personal experience what it will do.

"I had always enjoyed good health up until about a year ago, when my stomach got out of order, and since then I have been bothered day in and day out with an awful case of indigestion. I lost my appetite and nothing tasted right to me. Some days I wouldn't eat a single meal for I dreaded the misery I would be in if I did. I would have an awful heavy, disagreeable feeling and it would last sometimes for hours. I never felt fit for work and was geting so weak and all run-down that I was beginning to wonder where it would all lead to.

"But Tanlac just fit my case exactly and I felt so much better after finishing the first bottle that I bought the second and by the time that was gone I didn't have a sign of stomach trouble. My appetite came back in full force and from then until now I have been eating anything I want [illegible] in fine health now; in fact, don't believe I ever felt better. I have recommended Tanlac to a number of my customers and every one who has tried it is now bragging on it."

Tanlac is sold in San Francisco Oakland and Berkeley by The Owl Drug Company stores, and Eberly's Quality Pharmacy, Alameda.—Advertisement.

Rheumatism's Pains Will Soon Begin

But You Can Do Much to Head Them Off

So many people dread to see the fading of summer, for to those afflicted with Rheumatism it means that the comfort they have enjoyed during the warm season is soon to give way to the pains and pangs of this disease of torture.

Warm weather seems to render the germs of Rheumatism inactive and harmless—but soon they will arouse and renew their furious attacks with all of their old-time vigor.

Are you quite sure that you have ever treated your Rheumatism in an intelligent manner? Doubtless you have tried remedies by the score because the pains are always increasing in severity and are a source of constant suffering. But just here is where you make your mistake, as others have done by the thousands.

Just because your Rheumatism causes so much pain and discomfort you feel that the proper way to treat the disease is to endeavor to get rid of its pains. So you rush for the liniment bottle and begin to rub and rub in a frantic effort to relieve your suffering. And at times, possibly, you get some slight relief.

But did you ever know of anyone ever ridding themselves of this painful disease by the use of liniments or other local treatment?

A disease that can cause so much suffering is not confined to the surface of the skin, and cannot be successfully treated by local remedies. You have but to look around you at the numerous helpless victims of Rheumatism to confirm this statement. Ask any of them and they will tell you that no matter how much liniment they use, each season again finds them in the grip of the disease.

Do you want to have the same experience? Or are you willing to take advantage of a treatment that has been successfully used by many victims?

Many cases of Rheumatism are due to a tiny germ in the blood, which multiplies by the million and carries its pains to different parts of the body. Such cases must be treated through the blood, and the disease germs eradicated before the disease can be conquered.

This is why S. S. S., the fine old blood remedy, has given such satisfactory results in the treatment of Rheumatism. It is such a thorough blood cleanser that it removes all foreign substances from the circulation, thus clearing it off the germs that cause the disease.

You must first remove from your blood the germs that cause your Rheumatism before you can be free of its pains.

Begin taking S. S. S. today—you can get it at any drug store. And if you wish any special instructions about your own case, our trained physician will take pleasure in giving you any desired information. Write fully to Chief Medical Adviser, 281 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Georgia.—Advertisement.

The greatest master-piece in the Art Gallery of Life is Nature's "Picture of Health".

It is a marvelous portrayal of the human body at its best. One beholds in its composite detail a true symbol of strength. It presents a figure of striking appearance in its erect carriage, clear skin, sparkling eyes, strong limbs, steady nerves and firm muscles; fairly vibrating in animation—keen, alert, fresh, and spirited; with an air of unbounded confidence and a face radiant in color and illuminated with a glow of hope and cheerfulness.

Could Nature have taken you for her model? Suppose you study yourself in the mirror of the present and compare your looks, your feelings and your condition with the general characteristics of this picture of the human body in perfect working order, all parts of which are sound, well organized and disposed, performing their functions freely, naturally.

If you fail in any single point of resemblance, you are not the picture of health. It's imperative, then, that you look to a means to rebuild your strength, energy and vigor—to bring your body up to a normal state of efficiency in all of its parts.

Church Maps Out Year of Activity

Plymouth Center of Plymouth Congregational Church is beginning one of the most fruitful years in its history, according to Miss Hilda Marquardt, Girls' Social Service director, who is an active assistant of Rev. W. D. MacDonald, Social Service Director and pastor of the Center. MacDonald recently initiated a campaign to raise money to construct a swimming tank which, when completed, will be one of the finest of its kind on the Pacific Coast, it is stated. The construction of the tank will make the Center a place of completely diversified amusement, as it is already equipped with billiard and pool tables, library and bowling alleys. There is also a well equipped gymnasium and a stage where amateur productions are staged and where moving pictures are shown.

The conservatory of music, which is another prominent institution of the Center, is supervised by Professor George Edwards of Chicago, and offers instruction in composition, piano, voice, violin, organ, chorus, orchestra and drama.

Miss Marquardt who, as Girls' Social Service Director, aids in planning coming social events, announces that the girls have many brilliant social affairs planned for the new year. The Girls' Clubs, which will figure prominently in the social events are: Ala Sekis, Blue Birds, Pi Gamma Kappa, Girls' Athletic Club (a gymnasium and aesthetic dancing club with 80 members), two Camp Fires—Akiyuhapi and Witonohi, and Sigma Delta Gamma, which was just recently organized. Patrols for Girl Scouts are now being organized.

The Boys' Club are: P. A. C., Athenians, Wireless Club, W. B. Club and Wolf Cubs.

WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

The regular meeting of the Church Aid Department of the Woman's Association of St. John's Presbyterian Church, will be held in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 p. m. E. L. Sherrell, who recently returned from the American Legion National convention in the East, will deliver an address on "The Salvage of Men." As the members of the association are intensely interested in Post-War work for disabled soldiers they are desirous that a large number hear Sherrell's address. Patriotic music will supplement the address.

Dr. Edna Bailey, well known speaker of Berkeley, will be present at the meeting to present the "Shepard-Tonor Bill" which is the Child Welfare measure to be voted upon at the November election.

Superfluous Hair Now Removed Roots and All

(New and Instantaneous Home Method)

A boon to women troubled with superfluous hair is the new phelactine process. It is totally unlike the depilatory, electrical and other methods heretofore employed for the removal of hairy growths. It is the only thing that enables one to remove the hair completely—roots and all—in one's own home, without the assistance of an expert. The result cannot be doubted, for the user sees the hair-roots with her own eyes.

A stick of phelactine, with easy directions, can be had at any drugstore. It is entirely harmless (a child could safely eat it), odorless and non-irritating. It is an instantaneous method, and so thorough that the skin is left perfectly smooth and hairless, bearing not the least evidence of its former disfigurement.—Advertisement.

How Do You Prepare Your Bath?

Do you heat two or three kettles of water on the range, and tread up and down stairs two or three times, carrying it to the bathroom?

Or do you simply turn the faucet and let the Automatic Gas Water Heater heat your water as it passes through the pipes?

Hot running water, in any quantity, all over the house—that's what the Automatic gives you with no more trouble than a turn of the faucet. The

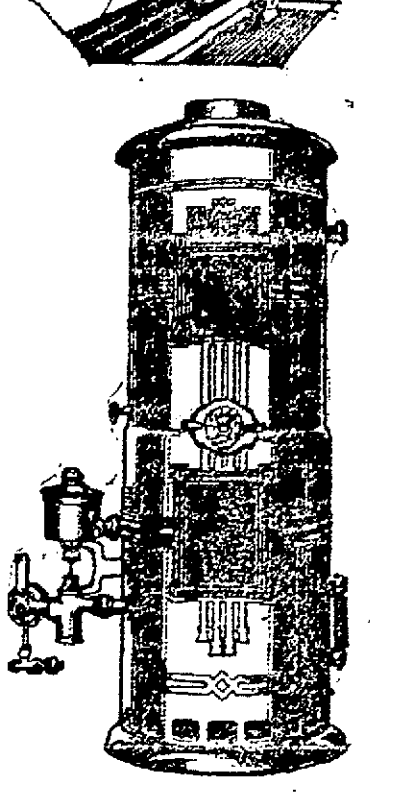
Automatic Gas Water Heater

IS A GREAT SAVER OF GAS. It burns gas only when you are running the water, and then only enough to heat what water you use.

The Automatic is also adaptable for use in professional offices, apartments, soda fountains and barber shops, where it will supply, at very low cost, hot water "quick-as-a-wink."

If taken care of it will last a lifetime.

Write today for descriptive literature on the Automatic. Tell us your hot water needs. You will not be obligating yourself in any way.



This is the Automatic Gas Water Heater. Water running through the heater automatically controls the supply of gas. Turning the water on lights the gas. Closing the faucet stops gas expense. It is well-built, well-finished and compact in construction. Can be furnished with wall brackets or leg base equipment. Takes up little room.

THE DUCK SEASON.

The man in many a local household is showing his annual symptoms of uneasiness. With the cares of a political campaign on his mind and the knowledge that the mushrooms are sprouting on the greening slopes he finds additional cause for agitation.

When the lord of the household takes the pretty wooden ducks from the baby, paints them anew in red, brown, blue, green and white, plugs the holes in his old hip boots, lays in a stock of extra-villainous tobacco, and oils and cleans the trusty shotgun, it can mean but one thing: the duck season is approaching.

For a while after the opening of the season on Saturday the quiet marshlands of California are to become like unto Fourth of July celebrations, the reverberations of the nimrods will echo in the bays and sloughs, and from behind the blinds will be poked inquisitive gun-barrels ready to bark at the approach of anything from a mudhen to a mallard.

Then some of these men, covered with mud and a two days' beard, will return to their homes, dump their precious decoys on the kitchen floor, track the carpets with the marshland soil, and demand in ravenous tones for that sustenance which the home may provide. From the mild tules will come the wild tales and from the confusion of banging guns will be brought disorder into the homes.

This man who comes back from the wilds is the same who grumbles at the upsets of housecleaning time. But the walking and the wading and the rowing and the thrill of all of his banging at wild life removes the cobwebs from his mind and puts in order his physical household. For all but a disturbed farming community and, perhaps, the overworked wife, it is a wonderful season.

Only to that congregation of ducks that have found sanctuary on Lake Merritt the situation is one of no consequence.

HOOVER'S POSITION.

Those Democrats who looked to Herbert Hoover to give at the most a half hearted support to the Republican candidates did not count on the Californian's gifts of analysis and predisposition toward accomplishment. Hoover, they hoped, would join the group of those who have branded themselves as helpless because the league program was not adopted without a change and to the large following possessed by the Palo Alto man there have been made many covert overtures.

There is no doubt about the position of Herbert Hoover. Just as he stood squarely against accepting any gift of nomination from those who sounded him with the hope he would join the Democratic camp, so he stands squarely now. He sees in the record of the Democratic administration one of neglected duties, in their attitude toward the league a weak posturing of martyrdom, and he gives his whole hearted support to the Republican candidates.

In a recent letter to Mrs. Robert Burdette Hoover says:

"Since the armistice the administration has made a failure by all the tests we can apply.

"It has obstinately held up the peace of the world for eighteen months, with fearful cost to ourselves and the world.

"It has woefully neglected and failed upon great reconstruction and administration measures.

"There are great domestic issues, delayed or accumulating out of the war, that have been insistently demanding solution ever since the armistice.

"It was the business of the Democratic party to have assembled the best brains in the United States before each of these problems—to have prevented the advanced cost of living, to have found solution for the difficulties of our agricultural industry, to have inaugurated constructive methods of resettlement of the land, development of our industrial employment relationship, the protection of child life, the solution of our deficient business, the reorganization of business administration, of the federal government and a host of other domestic questions.

"Nearly two years have passed since the armistice. None of these things have been accomplished—we have only promises.

"I have no doubt our Democratic friends will argue that they are martyrs to adherence to a great principle in the unmodified covenants of the League of Nations. They are seeking martyrdom upon a false promise. The questions involved in the League of Nations concerns one great principle, and numbers of alternative methods of its accomplishment.

"The Republican party and Senator Harding have repeatedly expressed their great devotion to this principle. Article X and other articles objected to are but part of the methods of reaching this great object. These articles adhered to by the Democratic party are today regarded by the majority of our people as dangerous not only to our own country, but to the league itself.

"The responsibilities of government should be transferred. I therefore wholeheartedly support the Republican candidates."

TAMPERING WITH TAXES.

Proposal No. 4 on the ballot for the election November 2 is an initiative measure embodying a slight change in Article IV, Section 1 of the Constitution, which prescribes the number of signers necessary to submit an initiative proposition by petition. At present the Constitution provides that such a petition shall be a mandate to the Secretary of State to submit a proposed law to a popular vote when said petition is signed by 8 per cent of the total vote cast in the contest for Governor at the last preceding election. The amendment would insert the following:

"Provided, however, that if said proposed law or amendment to the Constitution relates to the assessment or collection of taxes, or provides for the modification or repeal of this proviso, it shall not be submitted to the electors under the provision of this section unless the petition proposing it is certified, as herein provided, to have been signed by qualified electors equal in number to 25 percent of all the votes cast for all candidates for Governor at the last preceding election."

Briefly the purpose of the amendment is to raise the number of requisite signatures from 8 to 25 percent when the proposed act relates to the collection or assessment of taxes. This question of taxation is the only one involved. It is highly proper that 25 percent of the electors should be required to express their views on any proposal to submit a law involving a change in the tax system. If a change is really desirable it will not be difficult to obtain that proportion of signatures. It is dangerously easy to get 8 percent of the qualified electors to sign an initiative or referendum proposition—as the twenty proposals on the November ballot attest.

One of the specific effects of this amendment, if adopted, will be to make it more difficult for the Eastern and foreign agents of the Single Tax fetich, affectionately known by its disciples as "The Great Adventure," to harass the people of California with election proposals to destroy the present tax system in the State and substitute therefor their idea of a single tax on land values only.

The Single Taxers have been four times voted down in this State and they are back again this year with the foolish dream of Henry George, financed by Philadelphia soap makers and other non-residents. Their proposition is No. 20 on the ballot. By the use of bountiful funds the Single Taxers have been able to get an adequate number of signatures at each general election during the last ten years. If the vigilance of the voters had been relaxed the plot might have succeeded. The Single Tax organization has selected California as being the most gullible State in the country and therefore the most likely field for their experiment.

Proposal No. 4 and Proposal No. 20 are indirectly related. If No. 4 carries it will be more difficult for the Eastern propagandists of Single Tax to repeat their attempt to inflict their destructive scheme on the people of this State.

Therefore vote "yes" on No. 4 and vote "no" on No. 20.

WORK FOR CONGRESS.

The prediction is made by leaders in Congress that an extra session will be called in March or April to revise the revenue laws and place the finances of the country on a peace-time basis. It is certain that a large portion of the public will support any plan toward this end.

Aside from those necessary steps which must be taken to prevent this country from becoming the dumping ground for the products of foreign fields and workshops, tax legislation and a plan for the funding of the public debt represent pressing needs.

The burden of taxation should be lightened forthwith and the present spectacle of war time levies in a time of peace should be obliterated by new and constructive action. The income taxes should be revised and the excess profits taxes, which in large measure have been borne by the consumer, should be eliminated. There is no longer an excuse for imposing the same rates as existed during the war emergency.

In connection with a comprehensive plan for funding the $24,000,000,000 public debt it should be made clear what the annual charges are to be, and some legislation should be undertaken to bring the liberty bonds to par.

It is time to free the individual from the burdens assumed during the war and to relieve industry and commerce from heavy handicap during a period when foreign competition is to be most severe.

The latest peace agreement between the Poles and the Russians makes no mention of the ethnological boundary. Can it be possible that someone has misplaced it?

Now that the Supreme Court has denied the petition for a rehearing in the prohibition cases one more possible obstacle has been removed from the path of the bootlegger.

NOTES and COMMENT

Now there are drives to carry amendments, initiatives and referendums. The general public may have indifferent knowledge as to these measures, but the coteries that are interested buttonhole and urge, and such is the amiability of the American voter that he very often acquiesces without due knowledge. He votes for measures just to oblige somebody.

The new military reorganization law provides for one chaplain for each 1200 officers and men. Eighty-nine are to be appointed, and there are 300 applicants. They were in service during the war, and the experience appears to have found favor with them. The chances of a minister in civil life have narrowed somewhat, and probably the certainties in a military appointment are found to be preferable. At that, a chaplain who lives up to his full duties is not understood to enjoy a sinecure.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

A two-day sham naval battle took place in this vicinity last week, and a theoretical attempt was made to pass Santa Catalina Island and enter San Pedro harbor. It is said that Admiral Rodman, with five dreadnaughts and seventeen destroyers, failed to pass the mine fields and other obstructions placed for the protection of San Pedro harbor by Rear Admiral Wood. The attempt to gain an entrance to the harbor was theoretically unsuccessful. Of course, nothing is said in the metropolitan papers as to what might have become of Santa Catalina Island.—Catalina Islander.

Various angles to the water question occupied the time at the Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday evening, but after a thorough discussion it was agreed to wait a month before taking definite action as Trustee Schumann stated he was arranging to sink the present municipal well 100 feet deeper. Also he hoped to know inside of thirty days whether the well would prove satisfactory or not.—Antioch Ledger.

The long distance telephone wire between here and Grass Valley, Nevada county, served as chambers for Judge J. C. Hurley's court Tuesday, when John Ball entered a plea of guilty to killing a spike buck and was fined $100, which was received the following day by the magistrate. Joe Bell, who was Ball's hunting partner on the disastrous expedition, recently paid a similar fine for the same crime.—Ukiah Press.

JOBS THAT GO A-BEGGING.

There are a number of government jobs that nobody wants. The salary which Uncle Sam pays is not sufficient to make them attractive to competent men. Just now the administration cannot get a single graduate chemist for the bacteriological laboratory in connection with the pure food section of the Department of Agriculture. Nobody seems willing to drill into the nation's prunes in quest of noxious poisons. Nobody wants to pick our home-brewed Roquefort cheese to pieces in search of verdigris. It looks as if some of our oatmeal would come to us unpolished and unfumigated for lack of an official poison squad. The men who can tell the age of a dill pickle by its warts are going into other avenues of employment. The men who were to help check up on the food profiteers are now going in with them to show them how to make a thorough job and get away with it. A man who has spent $10,000 or $15,000 obtaining an advanced scientific education doesn't feel like sitting down and sifting baking powder for the government at $100 a month. At least not while the trust is glad to pay him $10,000 a year for making synthetic vanilla out of lima beans. So it is that the government is running shy of trained chemists. Even the prospect of working up to a $200 a month job in forty or fifty years does not seem to stimulate application. A man has got to be a graduate of about three colleges to take the examination for an advanced position and in the meantime he might be making quite a bunch of real money in the laboratories of commerce. And, at that, the chemists of business are about the poorest-paid men in the world—considering their education and training. Many a scientist doesn't make as much as an assertive plumber.—Los Angeles Times.

HEALTH and HAPPINESS

Why Science Says Soap and Water Don't Truly Cleanse

By Dr. LEONARD K. HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D.
(Johns Hopkins University.)

To be clean in fact, and to be clean in appearance are not the same. The worst and most dangerous dirt and germs are invisible. Sores, infections, pimples, inflammation, and blood poisoning occur on seemingly clean skins, from the unseen bacteria and dirt there present.

These do not occur on skins cleansed beyond the power of soap and water, by means of oxidizing [illegible] bicarbonate of soda, alcohol and disinfections.

Manicured nails have been discovered by bacteriologists to be the dirtiest, most infested kind, because the files and polishers are seldom sterilized, and convey or plant legions of bacteria in the cuts and rough crevices created by their use. The surgeon is about the only one who has clean hands, because he doesn't manicure them, and uses strong disinfectants, besides antiseptic soaps and waters.

The soap left on your hands after washing has no germicidal action, according to researches by Prof. G. P. Norton, Ph. D., Chicago.

"In the whole process of hand washing done in the usual manner," he says, "the special so-called 'germicidal' or 'antiseptic' soaps exhibit none of these properties."

The skin of your flesh serves oftenest as a means to convey bacteria of diseases, sores, contagions and blood poisoning.

Sterile hands and skin are not obtainable in the ordinary process of hand washing. More bacteria were found to be removed by ordinary toilet soaps than by some special soaps.

In brief, the mechanical cleansing properties of a soap are the only important qualities, according to Prof. Morton. The liquid soaps and soap solutions are of no practical antiseptic value.

More than soap and water, therefore, is demanded if you really wish to be clean in an honest-to-goodness meaning of the word. The laundry laws in a few wise and practical states recognize this by requiring a rigid disinfection of linen. All states should have such laws to protect the laundrymen, who often succumb to tuberculosis and other maladies thus caught, as well as do those who receive laundry from them.

ANTIOCH HAS NO RIPARIAN RIGHTS, RICE MEN HOLD

Efforts to show that the town of Antioch has no riparian rights and that up-river rice growers and others who use water for irrigation are not bound by law not to interfere with a river supply of fresh water at Antioch were made today in the continuation of the argument in the case of Antioch against the rice men.

It was argued, and supported by a large number of decisions, that the original grants on the river are alone to be considered as riparian and that any additional lands purchased by an owner of property facing on the river which may adjoin his property, but not touch the river, is not entitled to the water rights.

Attorney A. E. Chandler, who represents District 108, Tisdale District Farm Lands Company, one of the defendants quoted the authorities in support of this contention and explained in detail how the law might apply.

Antioch owns a part of an acre on the river, but as it does not use water on this land, but, instead, pumps it to the town for municipal uses, is not entitled to precedence in the water rights according to the argument of the rice men.

Other Woman Won Husband, Wife Says

Charging her husband with being infatuated with another, the same allegation he makes against her, Mrs. Genevieve Richards, holding her 2-year-old child in her arms, told Judge Everett J. Brown today of the alleged conduct of her husband, Carl Richards, a grocer.

Mrs. Richards introduced a picture in which he was holding the woman in his arms. She said Richards threatened to kill her and called her names.

Richards declared his wife went on automobile rides with another man and visited cafes until late hours. Mrs. Richards asks custody of the child, $75 a month and the home at 2063 Thirty-fifth avenue.

Alleged Narcotic Peddlers Are Held

Four alleged peddlers of narcotics appeared before Judge Herbert D. Wise, acting police judge, today to answer charges of violating the state poison law.

Joseph Goldstein and Maxwell Reis, arrested recently at 1216 Alice street by Inspectors McSorley and Rossick, and who were released on $200 bail, pleaded not guilty to poison law violation. October 29 is their date of trial. Elmer Wheadon will be tried October 14 on a drug charge following his plea of not guilty today. Yee Sam You will be tried November 5.

Petition Filed For Probate of Will

Disposing of the $44,110 estate of John W. Cherry, founder of the chain of Cherry credit stores in California, a petition for the probate of the will of the merchant who died August 19, 1920, was filed in the Superior Court today.

BERKELEY SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY TO BE URGED BY CHURCH

Plans will be made for a campaign to raise funds for the establishment of a school of theology in Berkeley for the Methodist Episcopal Church South at the seventieth annual conference of the church in session today in the Pioneer Methodist church at Telegraph avenue and Thirty-seventh street.

The conference opened last night with a sermon by Rev. J. Lloyd Decell of Fresno. It is being presided over by Bishop H. M. DuBoce, and Rev. Harold Govette of the local church and Rev. J. A. Batchelor, presiding elder of the San Francisco district, are acting as conference hosts.

Reports which will be presented at the conference will reflect one of the most prosperous years in the history of the church, it is said. Great increases in membership will be reported by churches all over the state.

Special attention is to be given at a number of meetings during the conference to an educational campaign for the organization of the proposed theological school in Berkeley.

At the session today Bishop DuBoce delivered the opening address, which was followed by the reports of the presiding elders of the various districts.

Tonight a program will be given for the conference by the local Sunday school. Rev S. M. Check of Merced will preside and the address will be delivered by Dr. Charles Bulla of Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Robbins Will Speak in Oakland

Mrs. Raymond Robbins of Chicago, Republican speaker and welfare worker of national reputation, will speak in Oakland at the Republican county central committee headquarters hall, 415 Thirteenth street, Saturday afternoon. The meeting is to be open to all.

Mrs. Robbins is to speak twice in San Francisco tomorrow, in the afternoon at the St. Francis Hotel and in the evening at Native Sons' hall, 414 Mason street.

The Harding-Coolidge ticket will be given a big majority in the vineyard and agricultural districts of Alameda county, according to a report made by W. T. Knightly of Hayward, State central committeeman. "There is almost a unanimity of opinion among them," he said, "that the proper protection for their products can only be obtained through a Republican tariff."

Petersen Claim Goes To Auditor Bondsmen

Whether or not W. J. Petersen, deposed captain of police inspectors, will obtain $1300 he claims is due him in back salary, without further legal procedure, was the question put up to the bondsmen of Harry Williams, city auditor, by Williams today.

"My bondsmen are naturally the interested parties where finances handled by me are concerned," the auditor declared. "Therefore I have asked them to take careful account of the various phases of Petersen's claims and advise me accordingly."

Petersen is seeking what he terms is payment due him for the period between his first dismissal from the local department and his reinstatement by the civil service commission.

Business Houses, Citizens Pledge Weekly Financial Help to the Boy Scouts

For the purpose of considering ways and means of making assured the future the coming citizens of Oakland—and other points to which the local young man may some day travel—manufacturers of the city will meet Friday noon at the Hotel Oakland. The subject under discussion will be Boy Scouts.

The necessity for immediate action along this line was advanced today by Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough, chairman of the Scout executive committee. The postmaster declared that unless co-operation was given by the business element in the city, the three years of intensive foundational work would be lost.

FACE BANKRUPTCY

"Despite the painstaking efforts of the finance committee, Boy Scouts in Oakland find themselves facing bankruptcy," Rosborough declared.

"Utmost care has been taken in handling expenditures. Improvements at the Dimond camp alone have cost but a few hundred dollars, where under ordinary management they would have cost thousands. Tom Bridges, James Travers and George Harris deserve the credit for this.

"This week we wish to interest Oakland's merchants, manufacturers and all public-spirited citizens, in bearing a small portion of the burden of the Boy Scouts. A majority of these realize the boy problem, either at home, or in his business."

POLICE RECORDS

Rosborough points out police records of the past three months, in which it is indicated 200 crimes were committed by lads of Boy Scout age. None of these, however, he says, were Scouts, but the statistics show the necessity for immediate steps for protection.

The following firms have just agreed to furnish a stipulated sum of money weekly toward the support of the Oakland Scouts:

Moore shipbuilding Company, TRIBUNE Publishing Company, Enquirer Publishing Company, Mazda Lamp Company, White Star Laundry, Oakland Daily Post, Kiwanis Club, Weaver-Wells Company, Union Construction Company, Auto Electric Service Company, Walnut Grove Creamery, Pacific Coast Can Company, Roos Bros, Strable Manufacturing Company, California Cracker Company, Western Casket Company, Raemar Baking Company, Taft & Pennoyer, Capwell Company, Kahn's, Hawley Investment Company; Bates, Borland & Company; Cavalier Bond Company, Gross & Miller, Hutchinson Company, Best Steel Casting Company.

VICE QUIZ SCORED IN WEST OAKLAND

In defense of West Oakland, the West Oakland Tax Payers' and Business mens' Association today sent the city council a protest against the "undesirable publicity" arising from the West Oakland vice conditions. The communication follows:

"Much ado has been made about the vice conditions existing in the vicinity of the Prescott school annex at Fifth and Willow streets in West Oakland, and the idea has been industriously promulgated that this trict of disrepute. was in all probability the only dis-

"We resent this and would suggest that the over-zealous officials clean up their own back yards.

"Whatever of evil existing at the time the school was so located up to the present time is in process of abatement, and we doubt very much if the aforesaid over-zealous officials can say as much for conditions elsewhere.

"We are asking for fair play, not unnecessary and undesired publicity." The communication is signed by Mrs. Nellie M. Bulloch, secretary of the organization. It was filed.

Rotary Club to Hear Community Law Talk

A debate on community property law, tomorrow noon on the mezzanine floor of the Hotel Oakland, was announced today by the Rotary Club.

Mrs. Albert E. Carter will take the affirmative and M. R. Jones, San Francisco attorney and former California legislator, will take the negative.

The debate will be in the nature of a preamble to the big gathering on October 28, when a general discussion of amendments on the ballot November 4 will be held.

Plans were being completed by the organization for a "100 per cent day" on the anniversary of the signing of the armistice, November 11.

CHAMBERS FAVOR STATE LAND LAW

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—The Japanese question in California is not one of inferiority or superiority but a "fundamental question of difference," Controller John S. Chambers declared in an address before the Mutual Business Men's Club here today.

Chambers urged the support of Amendment No. 1 on the November ballot, declaring it would strengthen the present land law. He said that certain ministers and missionaries who opposed anti-Japanese legislation "did credit to their hearts, but ran contrary to creation itself." They advocated the impossible, said Chambers.

Heart Disease Kills Autoist in Piedmont

PIEDMONT, Oct. 13.— Samuel Reese, 70 years of age, 6315 Elgin street, Los Angeles, died suddenly in an automobile today of heart disease. Reese, who has been visiting at the home of H. A. Frazier of 31 Yosemite street, was riding with Mrs. Frazier and a friend, Mrs. F. M. Woodward of 35 Yosemite street, when he suddenly became ill. Mrs. Frazier stopped at the city hall and sent a call for a doctor. Dr. John S. Grissam responded, but Reese was dead on his arrival.

Leave of absence was granted to Lincoln Hutchinson, professor of commerce on the Flood Foundation in the University, from January 21 to June 30, 1921, that he may join the American technical mission at The Prague as food expert and adviser to the Czecho-Slovakian government.

Three months' leave of absence was granted S. W. Cosby, assistant in soil technology, to allow him to assist the United States Reclamation Service in soil investigations of the Imperial Valley lands, which will be irrigated by the proposed All-American canal.

Numerous faculty appointments were made and announcement made of recent gifts received by the University.

$14,789 FUND IS WANTED TO HELP CHARITIES

BERKELEY, Oct. 13. — Several hundred men and women mobilized in the name of charity will invade homes of the college city tomorrow to gather funds for Berkeley philanthropies as conducted by the municipal government. The money raised will be used to make up a deficit in the budgets of the three charity societies of the city and to supply hot lunches to needy school children during the winter months. The sum of $14,789 is sought.

Of the three agencies for whom relief is sought, the Berkeley Charity Organization Society supervises the general case of dependants; the Berkeley Day Nursery cares for the children of mothers who must work during the day, and the Berkeley Dispensary provides free medical and dental attention.

The drive will be conducted for two days, concluding Friday night.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

The Common Fault With Most Cooks is to Use Too Much Shortening

ONE of the most embarrassing things for a housewife is to have her cake turn out "heavy"—or her pie crust "soggy." Not only unsatisfactory to the palate but the cause of many people saying: "Pies give me indigestion"—or "I can't eat pastry."

Yet this is a condition easily avoided.

Don't use too much shortening.

You use ⅓ to ¼ less Mazola than you need of either butter or lard—with better results.

If it's pie, Mazola will make the finest, most delicate and easily digested crust you ever tasted.

Or if it's cake—both lightness and richness will result from using Mazola.

And being an oil it is always ready for instant use—no tiresome "creaming-in."

This is because Mazola is an absolutely pure vegetable fat from an edible source. It is 100% fat—contains no moisture as is contained in butter and lard.

Once you try Mazola you will prefer it to lard and other shortenings.

Fruit Tree Home Sites

Have you seen the orchard lands of the Meek estate at Hayward?

This great, big, fine, rich, productive orchard adjoining Cherry Land is now being subdivided into small pieces for those who want orchard homesites. It is acknowledged to be the finest orchard in Alameda county.

You can buy anything, from 1-7th of an acre to 10 acres.

We have individual pieces containing from 8 to 12 full-bearing trees, larger pieces of ¼ to ½ acre and still larger pieces of from 1 to 10 acres. You can grow anything you wish between the trees.

These pieces range from $750 each up.

Terms as low as $75 down and $7.50 a month. No interest or taxes for 1 year.

Sewers throughout, good streets and roads, city water piped to the [illegible] well water at from 60 to 80 feet.

Maps for the sale of this land are now being filed.

Formal opening will be announced later.

Reservations can be made now, however.

If interested in owning a residence site in the heart of this, the finest apricot orchard in Alameda county, close to cars, schools and San Francisco trains—IF REALLY INTERESTED—phone Oakland 664 any morning, or drive, next Sunday, to East 14th st. (Castro st.) and Sunset boulevard, Hayward, and get particulars, or write our offices.

When the 300 acres of orchard land of this estate are sold, no more such orchard land will be procurable.

It takes 10 to 15 years to grow trees such as we are offering.

It takes 10 or 15 years of careful, intensive farming and no one is going to do this on CLOSE-IN residential property, such as this estate has grown to be.

We build for you. If you desire, and sell you the house by the month, or you can build a temporary home if you wish.

This is the greatest opportunity to buy orchard home sites ever offered the people of California.

Write us now, or

Phone Oakland 664,

Or call Sunday at E. 14th st. and Sunset blvd., Hayward.

STOCK MARKET AGAIN IRREGULAR AFTER HOLIDAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Resumption of trading on the Stock Exchange after the holiday brought no change from recent mixed conditions. Rails were especially irregular, gains in Northern Pacific, Great Northern, St. Paul preferred and N. Y. Central being offset by declines in Canadian Pacific, Atchison and Southern Railroad.

The same confusing transactions were manifested by industrials and specialties. Mexican Petroleum, American Car and Bethlehem Steel made variable advances, while Republic Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Studebaker, and Retail Stores were heavy to weak.

The market steadied within the first hour, oils, motors, equipments and rails rallying easily. Mexican Petroleum gained almost three points, Houston Oil 2½; Royal Dutch 1 and U. S. Rubber, Goodrich and Pierce-Arrow 1 to 1¾. Reassuring advices from Cuba were helpful to the sugars, which rose 1 to 2 points, and United Fruit advanced 5½. Among rails Texas and Pacific and New York, Chicago and St. Louis gained 3 points each with average advances of one point for Reading second preferred, New Haven and Missouri Pacific preferred.

Heaviness was shown by mercantile Marine, common and preferred, Central Leather, Utah Copper and Coco Cola.

Call money opened at 8 per cent, the maximum initial rate of the month.

Although call money rose to 10 per cent the highest rate in several weeks, the market became more stable in the later dealings on a demand for some of the steels, coalers and local utilities. The close was steady. Sales approximated 500,000 shares.

Coppers were depressed at midday, losing 1 to 2 points on reports that producers were offering the refined metal at a fraction under 17 cents. Rails of the investment class continued to strengthen, however, Reading showing unusual activity at a gain of 2½ points.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Liberty bonds closed: 3½s, 92.24; first 4s, 89.50; second 4s, 89.10; first 4¼s, 89.56; second 4¼s, 89.16; third 4¼s, 90.64; fourth 4¼s, 89.26; Victory 3¾s, 96.10, Victory 4¾s, 96.12.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Weakness was again the feature in the cotton market at the opening today, first prices showing a decline of 10 to 47 points. The selling, which was quite general and led by the south and Wall street, reflected continued fine weather in the belt over the holiday, weak cables from Liverpool, due to hedge selling and further unsatisfactory reports from drygoods and mill centers. A steady absorption of contracts by the trade after the start checked the decline and at the end of the first twenty minutes the undertone was steady, prices showing a net decline of only about 15 points.

Short covering on a more active scale carried prices up about 40 points from the low in the late afternoon, but the rally was poorly held and final prices showed net losses of from 19 to 42 points.

Spot cotton was quiet at 23 cents. No sales.

Trading Quiet, Even Sluggish, In Wall Street

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The New York Evening Sun's financial review today said:

Today's stock market was a neutral sort of affair, in which, seemingly, the professional traders only manifested the slightest interest. Trading was quiet, even sluggish, through most of the session. There was an undertone of strength in both the industrial and railroad issues. The steel and equipment shares were bid up after a fashion, Baldwin and American Locomotive making substantial gains. Mexican Petroleum, Houston and Royal Dutch were strong spots among the oils. There was moderate strength in the sugar descriptions and also in the gas shares.

Prices in most cases were at topmost levels of the day in the late afternoon and trading was more animated in that period. Consistent resistance to pressure in the earlier session finally forced the shorts to cover notwithstanding that the call money rate advanced to 10 per cent shortly before the close.

Dock and Deck

Yesterday being a holiday for the banks and government officers did not interfere with work on the water-front, the mills, shipyards and other plants working as usual. The lumber arrivals amounted to 2,525,000 feet, besides sugar cargoes from Honolulu and the last of the Alaska salmon fleet, the ship Star of Greenland, which only brought home 4725 cases of salmon from Loring. This is the smallest cargo ever brought home from Alaska by any vessel since the salmon packing began in Alaska.

The bark C. D. Bryant arrived at Callao leaking was reported here today. She was en route to a port in Spain, sailing from Iquique on September 23. The Bryant was built at Searsport, Maine, 42 years ago, and at one time was in the Honolulu passenger trade from this port. She was then owned by George Kentfield, who sold her during the war. She is now owned by Alex. Woodside.

The steel oil barge which has just been completed at the Webster street wharf on the Alameda side of Oakland harbor was launched successfully, and the second barge will follow shortly. The craft are being constructed on the land just filled in near the bridge, and were put together in a very short time. The Associated Oil company is building a large oil tank for storage on the land.

Henry Hendricksen, mess boy on the steamer Pasadena for many months, has shown his shipmates that he is a real sailor as well as a cook's helper, for on his way to port this trip from Albion, the vessel ran into heavy weather and the crew was all called on deck to assist. Henry jumped from his bunk and handled the lines as well as the rest of them, and Captain Beck gave great praise to the lad, who is to be married to an Albion girl in November, and Chief Engineer Howell and other officers of the vessel have arranged for a wedding breakfast on the Pasadena for Henry, which will take place at Albion.

The wind outside the Golden Gate continues to blow from the northwest, and the sky cloudy, with moderate sea. Along the Oregon and Washington coast the wind is from the south, with rain and choppy sea. A change of the weather is expected all along the coast at any time, with strong southeast gales from lower California to Vancouver Islands.

The barkentine Forest Dream is now at Grays Harbor, loading lumber for Australia, and is under command of Capt. George Wester of Oakland, who for many years commanded the bark Pactolus for the Frank B. Peterson company. When the vessel sails Mrs. Wester will accompany her husband.

The new steamer Thomas Rolph, recently built at Eureka, will be towed to this port with a lumber cargo, and after unloading will have her machinery installed. The Rolph was launched July 12 and is owned by the Hind Rolph company.

Investing without Capital

Many people now invest in high grade listed stocks and bonds without capital—that is, they buy them on the Kriebel Systematic Saving Plan and pay for them out of their monthly earnings.

They are finding it highly profitable. It is not a short cut to wealth, but it invariably yields liberal interest plus a profit.

What can be accomplished by this plan is told in Peter Perkins' story, "Getting Ahead." By investing $25 per month for 10 years he accumulated $10,000. The booklet tells you what stocks he bought, the dividends received each year, and the market advance of each stock.

It's fascinating. Shall we send you a copy? It's free. Dept. 1.

Many Men, Women Anxious to Assist in Coming Tribune Test

So marked has been the interest roused by the visit of Eugene de Rubini, young psychologist and telepathist, now studying in this country, to Oakland, that a number of appeals have come to The TRIBUNE for inclusion of the applicants on the invited test committee which Saturday morning will meet the mental scientist and investigate his methods.

Announcement of a part of the committee members who have accepted invitations, is made herewith, assuring the integrity of purpose of the tests. The whole committee will number about two score.

It is not the plan of de Rubini or the committee that the inquiry and demonstration shall be a "performance," the young man steadfastly maintaining his thesis that his peculiar and striking telepathic operations are no part of mysticism. For this reason the test has necessarily been limited.

INSIDE TESTS IN HOTEL

Inside tests will be conducted in a meeting room in the Hotel Oakland for the committee, after which the committeemen will ride with de Rubini in machines while he is guided by concentrated will in their ranks.

Surprising tests which de Rubini underwent at the Chamber of Commerce gathering Monday evening had the effect of heightening interest in his ideas and their development by him.

When de Rubini submitted to his test in San Francisco Mayor Rolph was one of those who personally conducted him. Mayor Davie of Oakland had been invited to participate in the test, but because of his injury in an automobile accident Monday evening, it was uncertain whether he would be able to attend.

De Rubini has visited a number of schools and scientific men since coming to the United States three months ago. On July 31 he was a guest by invitation at the University of Santa Clara and was conducted there by the Rev. D. J. Kavanaugh, professor of metaphysics at St. Ignatius College. Laboratory tests were conducted upon him with success by Fathers Murphy, Boland, Brainard, Oliver and Ricard.

INVESTIGATORS COMMEND HIM

In September he appeared before the California Psychical Research Society of which David Starr Jordan, Prof. Frank Angell, Prof. George M. Stratton, Mrs. Emma L. Hume and others form the council.

After this test he received a letter of thanks from the society, two paragraphs of which read:

"I desire to express our hearty thanks for your kindness in so favoring us, as well as our deep interest in you and your remarkable gift. Every experiment attempted last night was a success though naturally you worked more quickly with some than with others, and there is a refinement about your work that at once raises it out of the 'circus' class so often seen and puts it on a plane by itself.

"Our people were all very deeply interested and hope to have the opportunity of studying your work more closely. I unhesitatingly say to all that YOUR WORK IS GENUINE IN EVERY RESPECT."

This letter is signed by Vincent Jones, first vice-president, with corroborating signatures of Albert van der Naillen, the society president; Mrs. Hume, second vice-president; Frank T. Collins, D. O., third vice-president, and Sidney S. Smith, treasurer.

POLICE BALL HAS CAPACITY HOUSE

Oakland's finest filled the Auditorium to capacity with their friends last night at the annual policeman's ball, which proved to be one of the most brilliant and largely attended affairs of the year. A number of novel decorative features served to enliven the affair, among them being a massive electrical sign in the form of the "O. P. D." insignia of the police department.

The grand march was led by members of the city council, all of whom were present save Mayor Davie, whose absence was enforced by injuries received in an automobile accident yesterday.

Some of those in attendance were: Chief of Police White and Captain Dan O'Brien of San Francisco, Chief August Vollmer of Berkeley, Chief William Waymuth of Alameda, Chief B. F. Becker of Piedmont, Chief W. H. Woods of Richmond, Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough, Judges George Samuels and J. G. Quinn, District Attorney Ezra Decoto; J. F. Carlston, president of the Central Savings Bank; W. W. Garthwaite; president of the Oakland Bank of Savings; F. M. Walter of the First National Bank; Attorneys Harmon Bell, W. H. L. Hynes, W. H. Donahue, Charles E. Snook, R. M. Fitzgerald, M. C. Chapman, Coroner Grant D. Miller, Frederick Kahn, H. C. Capwell, Max Taft, Adolf Schleuter, John P. Maxwell, Mose Gunst, Captain Payson of the Northwestern Pacific Company; H. K. Mitchell, representing the San Francisco-Sacramento short line; H. K. Gregory of the Santa Fe railroad, Frank Woodward of the Great Western Power Company, George Bruno of the Fugazi Populare Bank; William Jurgens, president of the Hotel Oakland.

The proceeds of the affair went to the fund of the Widows and Orphans' Association of the Oakland police department.

INSPECTOR DREW GIVEN LEAVE TO BECOME CAPTAIN

In spite of an opinion from the city attorney on the subject, the civil service board last night granted leave of absence to Police Inspector James T. Drew so he may be named captain of inspectors and still hold his present civil service rating.

Some time ago Commissioner Morse asked the civil service board to do this, but the board laid the matter before the city attorney, who on Monday replied with an opinion that a "leave of absence cannot be granted."

City Attorney Hagan, in commenting on it, said this was the very point on which his contentions in the Petersen case rest, in that Petersen lost his rating as captain of inspectors long ago, when he left that office to become chief of police, and therefore has no standing as captain of inspectors.

The civil service board last night, however, gave Drew his leave of absence, specifying it was "at the request of Commissioner Morse."

"Chief Lynch was given a leave to become chief," said John S. Chambers of the board. "Why shouldn't Drew get it?"

Women to Hear Debate on 'No. 13'

"Community Property — Amendment No. 13" will be the subject of the debate under the auspices of the Business Women's Forum tonight. This subject is of vital interest to all women and a large attendance is anticipated. The speaker in favor of the amendment will be Miss Martha Ijans, secretary of the woman's legislative council, and against it will be Miss Gussie Stewart, member of the referendum committee of the California Bankers' Association. The debate is open to the public and will be held in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium at 8 o'clock.

LAUNDRY OWNERS ARE ENTERTAINED AT OAKLAND BALL

Fifteen hundred delegates to the thirty-seventh annual convention of the National Laundry Owners' Association were guests of Eastbay laundrymen last night at a dinner-dance in Hotel Oakland. The affair was one of the entertainment features of the convention which is being held this week in San Francisco. Today the delegates are making a sight-seeing tour of the bay district including an inspection trip through local laundries.

The greater part of yesterday's session in the Hotel St. Francis was given over to problems of the family washing, among them being the expressed conviction that the crying need of the laundry business today is a better system of identifying laundry pieces.

Professor Ira B. Cross of the University of California economics department, addressed the convention on "Industrial Relations" and urged the laundry owners not to cut wages during the present period of lowering prices. He urged them to establish stronger personal relations with their employees.

Quality and low operating costs—not low selling prices—are the goals set in Moreland truck manufacture.

We can make trucks to sell for less money—but only at the expense of the ultimate owner in operating costs.

We Shall Make No Reduction in Price

We have honestly priced our truck and can make no reduction, except at a sacrifice in quality, until material, labor and production costs come down.

So long as the present high cost of living maintains we have no intention of reducing the pay of our employees, neither is a reduction in material costs in sight.

When there is a reduction in these costs, or we can find means to reduce our production costs in other ways, we shall pass the reduction to the purchaser.

Moreland trucks, in design and construction, are a year ahead of Eastern competition, hence

The Principle That Saves Principal

The principle involved in the design of the Willys-Knight Motor is so mechanically perfect that very little principal is involved in its maintenance.

It has no valves to grind, its carbon deposit is negligible, and continuous use simply puts it in finer trim, for it is a feature of the Knight Sleeve-Valve Motor that it actually improves with use.

It is a car of magnificent distances, cumulative power and ascending efficiency, whose assessments for maintenance are lighter than on any car not operated on the sleeve-valve principle.
